An Ode To Willy

Willy we'll remember you
As the man who hated shoes
We'd see you walking barefoot around town
Catching up with the latest news.

You never were one to cause a fuss
Had no time for a mobile phone
A car, well you didn't need one of those either
Cause you'd always walk the road home

You liked to spend some time at the Buff
And with your mates you'd drink
That day you died, well it stopped a parade
We can only imagine what you'd think.

But just be sure of this one thing
You'll be missed by all of us here
So later today, we'll charge our glasses
And toast your life with a nice cold beer.
